

ODD PUBLIC ACCESS TV

watch.opensignalspdx.org

Since his beginning in the chaotic times caused by the confluence of the Pandemic Shutdown, Abolish Police Protests, and drug decriminalization in Portland, G'Odd has had his adventures documented in a series of movies and shorts that have come to be known as "the G'Oddyssey". Since returning to Portland, this endeavor has expanded to television. With these shows developing and the newfound collaboration of a Secret Society of Portland weirdos, the demand for air time only had grown. Therefore they his crew came to the logical conclusion: Hijack the airwaves of the local cable access and once in control broadcast the television the underground desires, and the norm-ies need. The continuation of the "ODD PDX" series, the movie presentation and anti-journalism of "Reporting from Oddlandia" merge into one and new contributors pour into the mix. Maybe the signal shouldn't have been left open, because the artists are coming to take control. Now, Portland can find out what "weird" really is.
